$540 million lock, dam started

By BILL WINTER
Editor

Fireworks, boat whistles and applause by more than 1,000 spectators greeted the driving of steel sheet piling into bedrock beneath the Mississippi River Friday afternoon, heralding the start of construction of the half-billion-dollar replacement Lock and Dam 26.

The ten-year project, started in tangible form as the Scott Air Force Base Band played "The St. Louis Blues March," was praised by senators, congressmen, Illinois Governor James Thompson and Chief of Engineers John W. Morris as a boon to this region's employment and a necessary step in strengthening the inland waterway system and the entire nation.

Most of the dozen speakers called for public and legislative pressure for timely and economical inclusion of a second 1,200-foot lock in the new river facility.

Congressman Melvin Price, described along with Vice-President Walter Mondale as being the most instrumental in securing federal authorization to replace the aging Alton locks and dam, called for a similar public ceremony when a second new lock is built. Any added time to study a second lock is not needed because "it's already been studied to death," Cong. Price declared.

A moment of silent prayer was held for the eight American servicemen killed during efforts to rescue U.S.

hostages in Iran, and it was asserted that the date of April 25, 1980, will be long remembered both for the rescue mission and the lock-dam ground-breaking.

Lt. General Morris, representing President Jimmy Carter as well as the Army Corps of Engineers, noted that "the president knows first-hand the need to replace Lock and Dam 26; and he made this clear when he talked to the towboat captains while looking through on his Delta Queen trip last August."

Both environmental and economic needs are being met, the general said. Invoking confidence that the work will proceed on schedule despite a continuing court appeal by railroads and environmentalists.

Situated in the Wood River-Alton area two miles downstream from the existing locks and dam constructed in the 1930s, the new structure will include a spillway with nine gates and an overflow dike. It is being called one of the largest tasks ever undertaken by the Engineer Corps and the biggest single construction project in this region's history.

The steel piling driven Friday following a signal from the speakers' stand is the first of 10,000 which will form the foundation for a cofferdam used in the first construction phase. Those activating a switch were Gov. Thompson, Cong. Price, U.S. Senator Charles Percy of Illinois, Gen. Morris, Cong. Harold Volkmer and Cong.

Robert Young.

The cofferdam will extend out from the Missouri shore and enclose 25 acres of the Mississippi River. After the water is removed from inside the cofferdam, the first six and a half gate bays of the dam will be built. The Illinois bank of the river is being bolstered to offset the impact of the temporarily narrowed riverbed.

In addition to a 1,200x10-foot lock and a 1,360-foot-wide dam, the $540 million project will include a visitors' center on the Illinois side and a recreational park and wildlife refuge on the Missouri side.

With a warm sun tempered by a cool breeze, there were ideal conditions for the 90-minute public ceremonies, conducted on barges adjacent to the Illinois shore.

The crowd that attended partly covered the sloping land area topped by the levee west of Ill. Route Three. The highway was closed for the afternoon to provide space for parked autos and buses.

It was noted that planning for the replacement began because of severe physical deterioration of Locks and Dam 26 and lack of adequate locking capacity. Because of its key location in the heart of the Midwest, it is one of the most important and congested anywhere, with a main lock only 600 feet long and an auxiliary lock 360 feet long,

Plan graduated fees for retail licenses

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

While Granite City's proposed new business licensing bill contains provisions picked up from its previous ordinance, an entirely new approach is used in establishing license fees in the retail merchandising and in the food dealers fields.

The ordinance is now under review by the City Council's ordinance committee, headed by Alderman Paul Fisk, and City Attorney Lance Callis, following recommendations for some revisions during consideration of the measure by the council last week.

The council placed the new licensing schedule on first reading by a 9 to 5 vote. It is expected to be presented for final passage in the council's May 6 meeting.

The new measure establishes a graduated scale of fees for operators in the retail merchandising field based on the number of persons employed in the operation, while the food dealers licensing provision sets up varying fees based on floor space.

In previous years, a single fee for all operators in the merchandising and food dealers fields was assessed.

The new measure, however, provides fees for licensing independent retail sales operators at $25 for a business employing less than 10 persons, $50 for a firm employing more than 10 but less than 20, $150 for a business having from 20 to 30 employees and $200 for any firm employing more than 30 persons.

For food dealer operations, the new fees will be $25 for an establishment of up to 1,500 square feet, $50 for an establishment of 1,500 to 3,000 square feet, $100 for an establishment 3,000 to 6,000 square feet and $200 for an establishment of 6,000 square feet or more.

Principal objection to the language of the proposed bill concerns a section in each category of the licensing provisions requiring an investigation of persons applying for a license and issuance of a license only to persons of "good character."

That section, in part, states: "The chief of police or any other person designated by the mayor or City Council shall investigate each applicant for such license, and shall report whether or not such applicant is a person of good character. No license shall be issued to any but a person of good character, nor shall such license be issued to any person who has been convicted of the offense of receiving stolen goods, burglary or robbery."

Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward particularly challenged this provision and asked that it be eliminated or revised because it "sounds like a police state tactic."

Douglas asked Police Chief Ronald

Veizer his opinion of the term and Veizer agreed the provision "could hurt some people." Veizer said there "are some businessmen who have been in trouble, have paid their debt and are now upstanding members of the community," and that he did not believe they should be penalized by being unable to operate a business.

Alderman Lloyd Bailey of the Fifth Ward said he could not go along with that part of the bill which provides a license fee for trailer coach parks based on $50 for the first 19 units and $5 for each unit thereafter.

Mayor Paul Schuler suggested during the discussion that any objections by the aldermen should be "given to the ordinance committee or to the city attorney for revising the ordinance to be presented for final passage."

Licensing categories and the fees to be assessed under each of those categories in the new bill, are as follows:

Automotive Businesses (all vehicle types): Autos, Cycles, Farming, Industrial, Mopeds, Recreational, Trailers, Trucks.

Dealers:
1. Four (4) or more wheel vehicles, $100.

3-way Rt. 111 crash fatal to 2

A collision between two autos and a semi-trailer truck resulted in the death of two women at 3 p.m. Friday on Route 111 about one mile north of Interstate 270.

Killed were Tammy S. Hines, 18, of Roxana, Ill., the driver of one of the cars, and Mae P. Primas, 58, of Wood River, a passenger in an auto driven by Judith K. Catanzaro, 36, of Alton.

The two women were pronounced dead at the scene by Randall Irwin, deputy coroner of Madison County.

Catanzaro was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center until her condition was stabilized and then transferred to Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Avel Leo Robinett, 40, Lemay, Mo. driver of the truck, suffered only minor injuries and declined treatment at SEMC.

According to state police, the northbound semi-trailer truck, driven by Robinett, crossed the center lane striking first the Hines auto then the Catanzaro auto, both southbound on Highway 111.

Robinett was issued a traffic citation for improper lane usage.

The accident occurred at 9:10 p.m. Thursday on State Aid Route 35, five tenths of a mile east of Highway 162.

According to Illinois State Police, Mr. Blaylock was westbound on State Aid 35 when the motorcycle he was riding allegedly was struck from behind by an auto driven by Thomas Holman, 33, of 3301 Johnson Road.

A junior at Granite City High School North, young Mr. Blaylock played baseball and basketball his first two years.

He went to work on a farm during his junior year.

His hobbies were fishing and hunting. Born in St. Louis, he had lived here his entire life and was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

Two sides to vehicle emission testing coin

"Caught between a rock and a hard place" is where many Illinois officials feel in discussing a federal mandate to begin a program of testing vehicle exhaust emissions or face economic sanctions from the federal government.

At a hearing in East St. Louis Monday, emissions tests were conducted to demonstrate the program and 60 percent of the vehicles tested failed.

If the tests were done under a state testing program, such as is being suggested for Madison and St. Clair counties and for the Chicago area, the drivers would have had to pay from $6 to $10 for the test and then would have to take their cars in for repairs and retesting.

Average repairs would cost an estimated $16 to $32 for tune-ups or pollution control adjustments and the drivers would then have to have their vehicles retested.

It is proposed that auto license plate renewals be denied anyone who cannot show proof his auto has passed an emission test. At Friday's hearing, many mayors urged caution in setting up any program which will prove costly and inconvenient to motorists and low-income residents. However, representatives of environmental groups and health organizations spoke in favor of establishing a program immediately.

Two types of programs are under consideration. A spokesman for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency said. One would be for the state to establish its own testing lanes, which would be expensive. Action would have to be taken by the Legislature during this session if such a program was to be started.

The other program would call for the state to license service stations to do the testing. However, the IEPA spokesman said, that program can invite corruption if some service station owners agree to pass some cars which fail the inspection for friendships or other considerations.

The program is an outgrowth of the Clean Air Act of 1977 and requires that states which will be unable to meet the 1983 standards start an emissions testing program or face federal sanctions, which could amount to many thousands of dollars in each county involved.

Nameoki residents urged to help solve rat, weed problems

In an open letter to the citizens of Nameoki Township, Supervisor Harold Davis is asking everyone to help solve some of the township's problems. One problem is a lack of street lights in many areas of the township and he is urging residents of Nameoki precincts three, five, six, 11 and 12 to attend a public meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at Tri-City Park Tabernacle, Maryville Road and Buenger Avenue, to discuss establishing a street lighting district.

"This is not a township project. We are just making the opportunity available. It is up to the people in these areas to form the district," Davis said in the letter.

Other problems Davis is asking for cooperation in solving include rats, dogs and weeds.

He says reports of rats being seen in the township are continuing and only the homeowners can solve the problem.

"Keep yards and garages free of trash and garbage. Do not leave dog food and water out for rats to feed on. Keep firewood in places where rats cannot nest in it. Keep your septic tanks in good working order and do not let them seep," Davis suggests.

"Every day, our office is flooded with reports of dogs running loose. Remember, there are county and township leash laws. Please respect your neighbors and friends and keep your dogs tied or enclosed," the letter continues.

Davis also suggests that citizens attack the problems of weeds before the weeds have an opportunity to grow. "This is one of the major nesting places for mosquitoes and rats. Please do not make the town board of health have to ask you to cut your weeds."

"Please cooperate, and remember, it could be some member of your family who gets sick from mosquitoes or rats," he says in the open letter.

Davis also is reminding all township residents that classes in cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) will be offered at the township and reservations for classes may be made by calling the township office weekdays at 831-1230.

Leaders challenged to develop region, foster prosperity

A joint venture of regional development intended to assure prosperity for Southwestern Illinois was described by acting SUE President Earl Lazerson in an address last week to the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors, meeting in Wood River.

Declaring that "our sleeping giant has awakened," President Lazerson challenged leaders of the area to respond with optimism to the opportunities ahead.

"A new sense of identity has come to this region, along with economic, political and educational developments. We have reason for optimism as we look ahead."

"All of our key managers, the mayors in our cities, the executives in our plants and businesses, our union officials—in short, all the influential citizens of the region—can engage in an effective coalition with the university."

Citing the local university's commitment to community service, Lazerson outlined a number of ways a "coalition" of SUE and the area's leaders can be successful in furthering prosperity in the region.

"He said the first step is based on communication, and the president offered himself "as one who is open and available to you."

Lazerson said he is being assisted by Robert Koepke, the university's coordinator of area development, who can identify persons and units throughout the university who are ready to assist in the resolution of community problems and development for the future. These include:

—Experts who can develop techniques to more effectively utilize existing resources.

—Specialists who can address the cities' needs to increase their sources of revenue.

—Researchers who are knowledgeable about environmental and air pollution problems facing the region.

—Computer technicians who can assist local governments in selecting the right "hardware" for their needs and in training personnel to keep it operating.

—Planners who can assist communities in their relationships with regional, state and federal planning and development agencies.

Pointing to progress made in the past 20 years in Southwestern Illinois, Lazerson said the university and other institutions of higher education in the area stand high on a list of advantages which includes two major new shopping centers, new highways, expanded and modernized airports, three regional port districts, industrial development and approval of a new lock and dam for the Mississippi River.

He noted that SUE is now the second largest employer in the region, with 2,400 employees and more than $5 million annually earmarked for personal services.

But the president emphasized, "We need you. We need each other. At a time when national possibilities are seen to be shrinking, and the impact will be most serious on our cities, it is up to all of us to coalesce in a venture in partnership that will exercise the art of

Hines, Wilson concert will benefit SUE

SUE benefit ticket prices for the Earl "Fatha" Hines and Teddy Wilson benefit concert May 14 at Powell Symphony Hall in St. Louis are $25 for grand tier boxes, $55 for dress circle seats, and $80 for grand tier boxes. Other seating ranges from $6 to $12.

Tickets for the Hines and Wilson benefit may be purchased at various stores, St. Louis University and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Proceeds from the concert, which is a highlight of SUE's third annual jazz festival, will go toward scholarships, student loans, distinguished teaching awards and other projects aimed at improving the quality of education at the local university through the SUE Foundation.

Two injured in head-on crash

The drivers of two cars were seriously injured at 5:10 p.m. Wednesday evening in a head-on collision on South University Drive, one-half mile north of Highway 157, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Taken to hospitals were Omar D. Smith, 67, of 2313 E. 23rd St., Granite City, and Edward L. Crite, 51, of Edwardsville Route Six.

University police said both men received major injuries, and ambulance crews worked a half-hour to remove them from the demolished autos.

Smith was taken to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center here and Crite to Oliver Anderson Hospital, Maryville.

time to make qualitative improvement consistent with its quantitative growth, SUE must grow and mature with it.

"Everyone will benefit from the coalition that grows from the joint venture. I have proposed. Let's pledge to join forces to insure that it happens," Lazerson concluded.

FIRE DAMAGES VAN
Fire in the engine compartment of the van of Kenneth Harper Sr., 2142 Dale St., caused an estimated $300 damage in the 2600 block of Edison Avenue at 9:10 a.m. last week. A carburetor backfire is suspected as the cause of the fire. Firemen were on the scene 18 minutes.

WEEKEND CAMPOUT: Webelos of Cub Packs 28, 46 and 96, and their fathers outdid a barn on the farm of Troop 5 Scoutmaster Max Forbes in Mount Olive, Ill., site of the scout event. The group participated in a compass course, hike, hayride, campfire cooking and Sunday services conducted by the Rev. Randy McQuire, pastor of the United Methodist Church in Mount Olive.

Urges early address change

Anyone who plans to move his residence this year should begin notifying everyone who regularly sends mail at least one full month before he moves. That's the advice of Jack D. Wilkins, postmaster at Granite City, who suggests change-of-address forms be filed with the post office and sent to correspondents and publishers.

The Postal Service offers free change-of-address kits to make it easier to notify everyone. Available in post offices and from letter carriers, the kits include convenient postcards to alert the postmaster and for mailing to department stores, friends and relatives, utility companies, banks, newspaper and magazine publishers and others who do business with the family planning a move, Wilkins said.

"Too often people who are moving wait until the last minute to notify their correspondents," Wilkins added. "The result is they add up to several extra days to their first-class mail delivery because it must be forwarded to the new address," he said.

Those who fail to give publishers at least a month's advance notice must either pay additional postage for forwarding, if desired, or wait several weeks before the publisher changes the address. This means customers may miss one or more issues of their favorite magazine, Wilkins noted. "Customers should also remember to include their account numbers when notifying stores and banks and to send their old address labels to publishers," Wilkins advised. A hearing in U.S. District Court in Alton held Thursday on a petition by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) seeking an injunction against members of the United Auto Workers local 1715 has been continued by consent.

The injunction would have restricted the union from picketing the construction entrance to the A.O. Smith auto frames plant.

The injunction action stems from a charge by the company that the union has created a secondary boycott in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The strike by the UAW entered into its 21st day today with no talks scheduled, according to a spokesman for the U.S. Mediation Service, which has entered into the dispute.

A meeting was held Friday in Clayton, Mo., at the offices of the federal mediation service with both sides presenting their respective position statements.

The positions are now under study by the auto workers and A.O. Smith officials, but no further talks are scheduled.

Foster parents sought

(Ill. Department of Children and Family Services)

Kevin wants a foster father who will care for him and give him the attention he needs. He is 13 years old, blonde, blue-eyed and is cheerful and affectionate. He has been in and out of foster care frequently due to an unstable home condition. He has never known his father, so his dream is to have a man he can look up to and pattern himself after.

Kevin attends regular classes at school and seems to enjoy school work and other activities. He makes friends easily because of his cheerful personality. Kevin needs a mother and father to take care of him and provide a real family atmosphere while he learns to cope with his insecure past.

They would have to be understanding of his emotionally ill mother to help him deal with this reality. But most of all, he wants a father.

Foster parents are paid a board rate of $119 to $190 per month, depending on the age of the child. Medical, pharmaceutical and dental expenses are also paid by the state.

Those interested in more information about Kevin or about foster care in general may call the Illinois Department of Children and Family Service, 876-8985, and ask for Shirley.

Review findings on state's future tomorrow night

The final report of the Task Force on the Future of Illinois will be presented to the public in a meeting at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville tomorrow.

Robert Koepke, professor of earth science, geography and planning, and coordinator of area development at the university, said the public will have the chance to review findings of the task force at a public meeting in the Madison Room of the University Center at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The study was compiled by a 17-member legislative commission made up of eight Illinois legislators and nine citizens appointed by Gov. James R. Thompson.

Its members represent a broad cross-section of Illinois residents, with representatives from labor, agriculture, business, education, government and citizens' organizations.

In the past two years, the task force has met with hundreds of people across the state. It held eight public hearings and numerous other meetings with special groups and individuals.

Thirty-five reports were commissioned, and information was collected from all state agencies and many local governments. The meeting here will be the first of eight scheduled across the state to review the findings and recommendations.

speakers, pointed out.

Barge traffic, including grain headed downstream and coal headed upstream, exceeds 62 million tons annually. Passage through the present locks was said to require an average of 20 hours, with the delays adding to the cost of the cargo being transported.

Congressmen Paul Simon and Paul Findley of Illinois and Senator Thomas Eagleton of Missouri were among those participating in the speaking program. Unable to be present were Senators Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and John Danforth of Missouri.

Senator Percy took the occasion to announce that Japan has agreed to buy 200,000 to 300,000 tons of American grain to help balance trade payments with the U.S. and to reduce starvation in many countries around the world.

Gov. Thompson told the gathering, "This is a tragic day for our nation, and the beginning of this project is related to the tragedy because the project is a key to making America strong. Without this project, the vitality of America's economic and transportation system would be weakened."

Edward Schnuck, chairman of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association, recalled that group's role in forming the Association for Improvement of the Mississippi River, which has worked to expedite the lock-dam replacement.

Charles Houghton, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency, which is coordinator for the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis, served as master of ceremonies. He said the groundbreaking was "truly a great day for this metropolitan area and the nation" and said that the replacement work will contribute much to areawide economic growth.

Boats are tested here by the Army

by PAT FOLEY
of the Press-Record

Competitive testing and evaluation of American and British made ribbon bridge erection boats has been underway on the Mississippi River west of the Granite City Army Installation since mid-March. The local news media was given an opportunity last week to view the boats and a portion of a ribbon bridge.

Purpose of the testing here is to determine which boat will replace the boat now used by the Army in conjunction with the multipurpose ribbon bridge.

A ribbon bridge is used to span a river for transporting troops and equipment including 60-ton tanks.

The boats are used in the construction of the bridge and to maneuver portions of the bridge if necessary.

The demonstration for the media was staged at the southern point of Cabaret Island. Reporters and photographers were flown by helicopter to the site from Bi-State Parks Airport in Cahokia.

Several fly-bys were made to allow aerial observation of the testing.

The British craft, used for the demonstration, is slightly shorter than the American version manufactured by the Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA). It is hydro-jet powered while the ALCOA craft is powered by twin diesel engines.

Hydro-jet power involves using a directional jet of water to move the craft.

After briefings on the testing and its purpose, reporters and photographers were given an opportunity to ride on the ribbon bridge raft while it was maneuvered with apparent ease in the river.

The Mississippi River was chosen for the testing site as a swift current, about eight feet per second, is required for testing the boats' maneuverability and stress evaluations. Slow water tests have already been completed.

The testing is being done by Army personnel from the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland.

Motorists using the McKinley Bridge in Venice during the day might be able to observe some of the testing now being done. The Venice boat ramp is being utilized for access to the river.

Degree for prospective police men and women

William Burns, law enforcement instructor at Belleville Area College, is citing U.S. Labor Department predictions of a 40 percent increase in police jobs in the 1980s. He said current starting salaries for police officers average $16,500 nationally and $14,000 regionally.

One particular area of opportunity, he pointed out, is for females in police work. Because of affirmative action programs, women are actively being recruited for police jobs.

Educational requirements for police are also increasing. About 15 percent of America's police departments now require some level of college education. And many departments, particularly in urban areas, have begun to require at least an associate degree for new police officers before they are considered for positions.

Burns said Cahokia and Fairview Heights now require a minimum of an associate degree in law enforcement for new officers. More and more departments will upgrade their educational requirements for applicants in the next decade, Burns predicted.

Belleville Area College and most other community colleges in Illinois offer the associate of applied science degree in law enforcement.

This degree, although not designed as a transfer program, will generally transfer to four-year institutions that offer baccalaureate degrees in criminal justice or law enforcement, Burns said. McKendree College, which offers the upper level courses in the curriculum, has begun scheduling some law enforcement classes for college juniors and seniors on the Belleville Area College campus.

For information concerning the BAC law enforcement program, the McKendree capstone program or opportunities in the area of police work, interested persons may contact Dr. William Allen, William Burns or Harold

Summer gifted institute

Improvise—that's what gifted high school students will do in a six-week Summer Institute beginning in June at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The daily sessions will teach them to imagine, concentrate and act, using tongue-twisters as warmups.

William J. Grivna, Assistant professor of theater and dance, will teach the group and direct the final performance of a scene selected from a contemporary play. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity many students may not even find in college," according to Donald J. Baden, associate dean of education and director of the new Summer Institute.

Other morning sessions will meet daily through Thursday each week to take up art, dance, a musical instrument, short story or poetry writing, biological concepts, scientific experiments or historical changes. One session will even go into learning styles and motivation.

Afternoons, everyone will meet in an open seminar to hear guest professionals in law, medicine, education, engineering, business, journalism, the arts, communications and politics.

Once-a-week tours will take students to professionals at area museums, universities, gardens, historical sites and zoos.

Application forms are available at all area high school principals' offices and are to be completed before May 1. The institute fee is $150, and some scholarships will be available. Requests for additional information are being directed to Thomas Shea, institute coordinator, at 692-3896.

It is no wonder that nothing gets people's attention these days as quickly as saving money. One way to really do this affectively was brought out in some recent statistics released by one of the major auto insurance companies.

According to their findings the actual cost of operating an automobile is now up to a breath-taking 25.2 cents per mile. That includes gas, depreciation, interest costs, repairs, etc. Now with that figure in mind, let's imagine we are going to try to save money by driving, say 15 miles, to make a $75 purchase. Suppose we believe that the $75 item can be bought for five dollars less by driving out of town to get it. Do we save five dollars? No. In fact, we effectively lose about $20 since the hundred mile round trip would cost over $25.

Doing business locally makes better sense than ever before, you save money and help support our community at the same time. You win both ways.

3 taverns sued

Erwin A. Porter has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court against two men who allegedly stabbed him and three taverns where his assailants were drinking the night of the attack.

One of the alleged attackers named in the suit, Terry Stockman, was later shot and killed at Elsie's Tavern near Edwardsville. Porter's suit says he was stabbed in the neck, groin and right thigh with knives or razors while he was drinking in Debbie's 12th Street Lounge, 1224 Madison Ave., Madison, Nov. 5, 1979. Defendants are Deborah Robinson, operator of Debbie's 12th Street Lounge, Nola Manogian, operator of the Starlight Tavern, 1225 Madison Ave., Dale Martin, Wade Gum and Norman Morlien, operators of the Bastille, 1816 Madison Ave., and Leo Six Jr. and the late Mr. Stockman.

The suit alleges Six and Mr. Stockman were served liquor at the Bastille and the Starlight Tavern before they went to Debbie's, where Porter was attacked. He alleges he was permanently injured and seeks more than $15,000 from each of the five defendants.

Choosing our energy future—choices, tradeoffs

NUCLEAR STACKS AND SOLAR TOWERS: ALTERNATIVES FOR THE FUTURE. Nuclear energy, symbolized by the Three Mile Island plant near Harrisburg, Pa. (top), and solar energy, symbolized by the solar tower and reflective mirrors at the Department of Energy's test facilities, are two possible energy sources for the future.

By MELVIN KRANZBERG
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of 13 articles exploring "Energy and the Way We Live." In this concluding article, Melvin Kranzberg of the Georgia Institute of Technology assesses our energy future in terms of the choices we make now.

This series, written for Courses by Newspaper, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, was funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, with supplemental funding from the National Science Foundation.

Copyright (c) by the Regents of the University of California.

Technology's answer but that's not the question. The question is which technology (or technologies) will resolve our energy dilemma. And underlying that are more basic questions: What do we want our lives to be like in the future? What do we owe to the future generations? What are our responsibilities to our fellow inhabitants on Spaceship Earth?

The energy choices we make today will affect not only our own lives, values, and institutions, but also the natural environment, the resources and lifestyles of generations to come, and ultimately all the earth's people.

Understandably, we don't want to change our lifestyles. Most Americans are happy with the material goods that industrial technology has brought, and we fear a decline in our living standards. Yet the cheap energy that fueled America's material growth in the past will no longer be available. What can — or should — we do about it?

In the short run — for the next decade or so — we will rely chiefly on conservation to fill the gap between energy supply and demand; in the longer run we will confide in a "technological fix" to provide us with abundant (if not necessarily cheap) energy. Both of these solutions hold forth promises and problems.

CONSERVATION AND ITS LIMITS

Conservation would be commonsensical from an economic and ethical perspective even if we had no energy crisis. We Americans waste too much of everything, from food to fuel.

For individuals, conservation offers savings on fuel bills, and, if we walk rather than drive, better health. For the nation, conservation would lessen our dependence on costly foreign oil, which contributes to inflation.

Although some conservation might be a "good thing," too much might weaken economic and social supplies; public health would suffer from inadequate home heating; and the economy would gradually grind to a halt as vital services shut down.

But suppose additional millions of barrels of imported oil were cut off. Unemployment would rise as factories shut down because of lack of fuel or a transportation breakdown; agricultural production would dip, affecting food supplies; public health would suffer from inadequate home heating; and the economy would gradually grind to a halt as vital services shut down.

NEW ENERGY SOURCES
In brief, conservation by itself — however desirable and necessary — is not enough to maintain our socioeconomic order and ensure the future. We must also develop new energy sources through a "technological fix," that is, the application of more and better technology. Because these technologies take time to develop, they represent longer-range solutions to our energy problem.

How do we choose among the technologies that will "fix" our situation? What benefits do they offer and what risks are involved? What tradeoffs must be made in the way we live in order to obtain or retain other things which we value? For values are implicit in our choices of our energy future.

For example, we might get more oil from offshore wells, but offshore drilling risks oil spills and environmental damage. We have plenty of coal, but mining it imposes danger to the miners and degradation to the environment, and burning it creates pollution.

Synthetic fuels — oil and gas made from coal, tar sands, and shale — present the same problems as mining coal. In addition, they release more carbon dioxide into the atmosphere than the direct burning of coal, and thus increase the possibility of a "greenhouse effect" — warming the earth's climate through absorbing infrared radiation.

Nuclear energy once promised unlimited, cheap energy. But there are doubts about reactor safety, radiation, and nuclear waste disposal.

The Three Mile Island accident and the subsequent investigation set back the nuclear cause. Yet future nuclear development might be necessary if we want sufficient energy to maintain our lifestyles.

Solar energy has many attractions but technical problems hinder its large-scale production and storage; despite its suitability for hot water and home heating, it could not be expected to power America's industrial plant.

Even ardent proponents of solar energy project its supplying us with only 20 percent of our energy by the year 2000. The other "soft paths" — geothermal and wind — could provide only a minuscule portion of our energy needs.

DIFFICULT CHOICES. Even if we try many different energy paths, we must still decide which will make the most effective use of our scientific research dollars and talent. And these decisions must be based not only on technical feasibility but also upon how and where we want to live.

Thus, solar energy proponents claim it would get us "back to the land," and they exalt a simpler lifestyle; others equate the "simple life" with a lower living standard. Americans tired of the rural life over a century ago; moving to the cities, they created today's urbanized, industrial society.

Are we willing to do without our wealth of material goods and go back to the "simple" life of the farm? Might not many Americans prefer the risks of, say, nuclear energy rather than forgo the amenities and excitement of the big city?

All energy paths have disbenefits as well as benefits, which are often difficult to assess. Even the "soft paths" can't always measure the risks precisely.

Besides, the risks might be assigned to one group, such as Appalachian coal-miners, while others, such as Eastern urban dwellers who use the energy produced by coal, derive the benefits.

There is also the question of voluntary versus involuntary risk. The National Academy of Sciences estimates that radiation from nuclear plants might cause a total of 2,000 cancer deaths by the year 2000, whereas almost 50,000 people a year die on our highways. Yet we voluntarily drive our cars and risk a fatal accident.

We don't always have a choice in the case of energy sources.

True, we decide whether or not to switch on the electric light, but others decide just how that electricity will be generated.

Up till now, such decisions have usually been left to the marketplace, but increasingly society, through the political process, will be determining our energy future.

THE ROLE OF THE CITIZEN
Because energy is so crucial to the nation's economy and well-being, the government must be concerned about it. In most places, the generation and distribution of electricity and natural gas are monopolies, so these public utilities must be regulated for the public good.

Our petroleum supply increasingly depends upon the government's conduct of foreign relations. Furthermore, future energy resources will depend heavily on the government's or research dollars, pilot plants, and tax incentives — and will be constrained by governmental action to protect the environment and the public's health. Thus, it is within our power as citizens to determine where the government should apply its efforts to bring us the energy future we want.

Throughout our history, concerned citizens have brought about major transformations of American policy. In energy matters, determined citizens have halted or delayed the construction of nuclear plants, oil refineries, and pipelines.

In the last analysis, therefore, our energy future is up to each of us. Do we have the courage to make some difficult choices? Or, have we become a nation of materialistic hedonists, as some critics say, unwilling to forgo our material comforts regardless of the effects upon others?

Is this a crisis of the national will?

If so, there are some grounds for confidence. Despite recent strains, we remain the world's strongest democracy, and we shall retain our scientific preeminence. If we put our will to the test, we should be able to surmount the current energy crisis just as we have overcome previous national crises.

Red Cross asks city for funds

The Granite City Chapter of the American Red Cross has asked city officials to consider a contribution to the chapter's disaster fund which is now depleted.

The City Council in a meeting last week referred the request to the finance committee for consideration in preparation of the city's new budget bill.

Jack Mulach, chairman of the board of the local chapter, told the council by letter that while Granite City has had no major disasters in its recent history, it is a heavily "industrialized community and therefore subject to the potential of a disaster and should be prepared."

Mulach said that at a recent meeting it was suggested the chapter appeal to the townships of the Quad-City area for contributions to build up a disaster fund.

Disaster funds also are used for such purposes as aiding families made homeless by fires and similar problems, encountered by local area residents, Mulach noted.

Charged in beating case

David Presswood, 20, St. Charles, Mo., surrendered to Granite City police at 7:55 p.m. Wednesday and was charged with battery on a complaint signed by Richard Powderly of the 2700 block of Myrtle Avenue.

Powderly said he was walking in the 2900 block of Grand Avenue at 3:55 p.m. Wednesday when an old pickup truck drove across the field by the Granite City High School South tennis courts, stopped by him.

One young man got out of the truck and allegedly said he felt like beating someone up, Powderly said. The two wrestled and Powderly got the other man in a head lock until the other man agreed to stop, Powderly reported.

When Powderly let go, the other man allegedly bit Powderly's left arm, grabbed his hair and slammed his head to the concrete, police were told.

Powderly suffered a large gash near his right eye and swelling to his head. He sought treatment later at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The other man left in the pickup truck, but neighbors gave police the number of the Missouri license plates, which were traced — to Presswood, officers said.

Powderly signed a battery complaint against him. Presswood was released after posting $35 cash bond.

Injured on ride; sues

The mother of a girl who was injured on a carnival ride April 18, 1979, at Nameoki Village Shopping Center has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court against Nameoki Village, Inc., and E. Campbell, operator of E. Campbell Rides.

Shane filed the suit on behalf of her daughter, Marie Shane, who was 9 years old when she rode an amusement ride at the shopping center and was injured by the jarring and bumping ride called "the Screaming Screamer" according to court documents.

It alleges the girl yelled at the operator of the ride to stop it, but he ignored her pleas.

The suit seeks $75,000 from the shopping center and $100,000 from Campbell.

Gonwa national merit scholar

In the second of three major announcements of Merit Scholars this spring, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill., today released the names of 1,125 winners of National Merit $1,000 scholarships, including Mark E. Gonwa.

Gonwa, of 18 Miami Court, Granite City, will receive a scholarship sponsored by the Digital Equipment Corporation and will take pre-medicine courses.

Ranked first in his class at St. Louis University High School, he is a member of the National Honor Society and holds the Rensselaer Medal as outstanding junior science and mathematics student.

An Illinois State Scholar, Gonwa is a member of the Biology and Life Sciences Club, mathematics team, Senior Follies and basketball team.

He participated in the Close-Up program in Washington, D.C., toured European countries, studied the guitar, served as a volunteer tutor, attended a school-sponsored ski trip and took part in swimming and water polo.

Each of 14,000 finalists in the competition was considered for one of these one-time, nonrenewable awards. Winners will receive a single payment of $1,000 this fall after enrolling at a regionally accredited U.S. college or university of the scholar's choice.

Most (1,012) of the unrestricted national awards are underwritten by corporations, company foundations, and business organizations that also finance four-year scholarships designed for students who meet preferential criteria; NMSC's own funds are financing the remainder of the $1,000 awards.

Photo contest to highlight Be Kind to Animals Week

Comedian Norm Crosby has been named 1980 chairman of "Be Kind to Animals Week." May 4-10.

The oldest recognized week in the nation is celebrated during the first full week of May each year, and is sponsored by The American Humane Association and locally by the Granite City Association for the Protection of Animals. The goal of the week is to increase public awareness about humane animal treatment.

In observance of BKA week, the APA will hold a "1980 Pet of the Year" contest. Those wishing to enter may submit a favorite photograph of their pets. Entries will be judged on originality of pose, uniqueness of setting or situation, humor and theme.

A trophy will be awarded and the winning photo and individual published in the Press-Record at a later date.

To enter a contestant may mail one photograph marked clearly on the back with name, address and phone number to:

Mrs. Linda Irwin, BKA Chairman, 2801 Madison Ave., Granite City, IL 62040.

Entries must be received between May 4-10.

The APA reserves the right to use any entry for publicity purposes. Mrs. Irwin said. Pictures will be returned if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Entries are limited to the Quad-City area, APA members and their families excluded.

Be Kind to Animals Week isn't meant to urge Americans to give their pets a little more attention between May 4 and 10; it is meant that people take time to seriously consider the reasons for owning a pet and the needs of such pets, Mrs. Irwin said. Responsible pet ownership and kindness result when owners are willing to provide the routine health checks, vaccinations and proper diet needed by their animals. Even more importantly, kindness means providing the pet with the love and concern that makes animal companionship so worthwhile, she added.

This week, and all weeks, pet owners and potential pet owners are urged to consider the basic health, needs and requirements of their animals. Remember: pet ownership and kindness to animals involve responsibilities and, most importantly, love," she concluded.

Monsanto sets records, cites uncertainties

For the first quarter of 1980, Monsanto Company has reported consolidated net sales of $1.82 billion, up 12 percent over the first quarter sales level of $1.62 billion for 1979. Net income was $164.2 million, a modest improvement over the $161.8 million in the first three months of 1979.

Primary earnings for the first three months of 1980 were $4.33 per common share as compared with $4.44 for the same period of 1979. Fully diluted earnings per share were $4.49 as compared with $4.40 for 1979.

John W. Hanley, chairman and chief executive officer, said, "Not in recent history has our company or the chemical industry been faced with such uncertainties. It has been a period of unprecedented inflation not only in the costs of the hydrocarbon feedstocks that are the raw materials for our end products, but also in every other cost element."

"In planning for 1980, we projected a mild recession for the U.S. economy, including anticipated softness in U.S. automobile production and a meaningful slowdown in domestic housing starts. Unanticipated was the major instability in the money market to which we look for long-term financing.

"The unprecedented high interest rates have impacted housing starts, auto purchases and capital investment. The current tenor of the total U.S. economy makes our prediction of a mild recession a bit more risky than was the case only four or five months ago.

"Despite these major uncertainties, we are pleased with our results for the first quarter because sales, net income and earnings per share all set new records.

"During the quarter, we benefited from brisk demand for our agricultural herbicides and from continued strong demand for exports from our plants in the U.S., offsetting the softness in those product lines closely related to the auto and housing industries."

GC buys new rescue truck at $41,828

Purchase of a new modern equipped rescue truck for the fire department was authorized by the City Council last week on a bid of $41,828.

The purchase was approved unanimously on a motion by Alderman Earl Baker, chairman of the council's fire and water committee, who said the truck will be bought from the Able Fire & Safety Co. of Chicago which submitted the only bid. The company offered the truck, fully equipped, at a price of $41,828 which is only slightly higher than the city's estimated cost of $40,000 on which a state grant application was based.

The Illinois Department of Transportation will finance 75 percent of the purchase price under a grant allocation announced several weeks ago.

Baker told the aldermen that the fire department's present rescue truck is 15 years old.

Freeman to accept new Scout position

Ned L. Freeman, district Scout executive for the Uluwah (Quad Cities) area since July 1975 has accepted a position with the Great Rivers Boy Scout Council, Columbia, Mo. effective June 1.

Freeman's last day here will be May 23.

In 1978 at a regional executive meeting in Denver, Colo. Freeman was presented with a Distinguished Executive Award, by the National Chief Scout Executive J. L. Tarr. Freeman was the first district executive in southern Illinois to be so honored.

The award was given for exceeding all goals in the district.

While with the Cahokia Mound Council, Freeman served as camp director for two seasons of Camp Sunnen and has served as professional adviser to the council camping committee.

Freeman is a Vigil Honor member of the Order of the Arrow, a national Boy Scout honor camping society.

Freeman has been serving since 1975 as the adviser to the local Cahokia Lodge of the Order of the Arrow.

He has also served as adviser to the council advancement committee, Boy Scout and Cub Scout training committees.

He has been active in the Breakfast Kiwanis Club and the Madison-Venice Rotary Club; in addition to the Suburban Baptist Church.

As a volunteer leader before coming to Granite City, Freeman was a Scoutmaster, Arrow lay adviser to the Blackhawk Lodge of the Arrow, district camping chairman and council membership committee member of the Piasa Bird Council in the Alton-Woodriver area.

NED FREEMAN

In his youth Freeman was a Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer. He also worked on the camp staff of Boy Scout Camp Warren Lewis, Godfrey, Ill., for five seasons.

"I am leaving with mixed emotions. In one sense I am eagerly awaiting the new experience in Missouri and yet I hate to leave my many friends here in the Quad Cities," Freeman said.

"Words can not express adequately the appreciation I feel toward the fine volunteers I have had the privilege to work with. We have some very dedicated volunteers in the district and council here," Freeman said.

Freeman will be serving a four and one-half county area known as the Mark Twain District and will be living in Hannibal, Mo.

A BYGONE ERA. The seventh annual House Tour and Fair sponsored by the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society will include the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins, 2250 Cleveland Blvd. Melodic Jenkins admires a grandfather clock which plays a tune on the hour in addition to the hourly chimes. A collection of antique clocks in the home will be highlighted during the tour.

House tour and fair on Sunday

The Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society will hold its seventh annual House Tour and Fair this Sunday, May 4.

This year, six homes and one law office in the downtown area will be featured.

All the homes on the spring tour have been restored in varying degrees, displaying the ingenuity of the individual owners to create an attractive house of a bygone era combined with modern conveniences.

A craft and entertainment fair will be in progress during the house tour in the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Various craftsmen will be on hand to demonstrate their skills, and selected items will be on sale at reasonable prices, the chairmen report.

Refreshments and entertainment will be featured at the fair.

All proceeds will go to the DNRS for use in various neighborhood beautification projects.

Advance tickets costing $2.50 may be purchased from any DNRS member, or at the door for $3 on the tour date.

Visitation at the homes is scheduled from 1 to 6 p.m. and those on the tour are to use the sidewalks at all times and to refrain from walking on the lawns. No smoking or refreshments are allowed in the houses, the DNRS officers note.

A STAIRCASE OF OAK is the first thing to greet visitors to the Jenkins' home. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins are seen on the three-level stairway leading to upstairs rooms. These are the original stairs installed in the home when it was built in 1907.

List starting for Eagle Park houses

Eagle Park Acres residents interested in purchasing houses being constructed by local residents under a Community Development program should obtain letters of intent to purchase a new home.

The letters of intent, which now are available at the Venice Township office, will put the signers on a list of potential buyers, who then will be screened by the Community Development office.

Qualified candidates will be given the "green light" to obtain private financing to purchase a new home.

The letters of intent are not binding and anyone later deciding he does not wish to purchase a new home may drop out of the program without penalty.

Eddie Lee Salmond, organizer of the program, explained. The first house constructed by local residents is nearing completion at 206 Terry St., in Eagle Park Acres. It is expected to sell for less than $30,000. The frame house includes a full basement.

Construction of additional homes will begin as soon as the funds from the sale of the first house have been received, Salmond said.

American Steel parent firm again raises dividend

AMSTED Industries' board of directors last week declared a quarterly dividend of 82 cents per share payable on June 13 to stockholders of record on May 20. This is an increase of 12.7 percent from the 55 cents per share paid in December 1979 and March 1980.

The dividend is up 24 percent over the 50 cents paid in June and September 1979.

The quarterly dividend rate has increased at an annual compounded rate of 22 percent over the past five years. The firm's subsidiaries include American Steel Foundries.

AMSTED announced that sales and earnings in the six months ended March 31 were at all-time highs.

Sales totaled $469,496,000, up $55,584,000, or 13 percent, from the same period a year ago.

Earnings amounted to $42,000,000, or $3.89 per share, up from $31,065,000, or $2.88 per share.

Net income amounted to 8.9 percent of net sales compared to 7.5 percent a year ago. The improved margin reflects principally an increased volume of shipments and a more profitable product mix.

Goff Smith, chairman, said sales and earnings in the March quarter exceeded the record levels established in the previous quarter.

Sales amounted to $242,606,000, up $35,163,000 from the same quarter last year and up $15,726,000 from the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1979.

Net income was $22,005,000, or $2.04 per share, up from $13,690,000, or $1.27 per share in the March quarter last year, which was severely impacted by weather. The March quarter income was up $2,010,000 or 19 cents per share from the December quarter.

In the quarter ended March 31, net income amounted to 9.1 percent of net sales compared to 6.6 percent in the comparable period last year. Income included about $1,000,000 from a gain on the sale of a German roller chain manufacturing subsidiary. Historically, this operation did not have a material effect on income.

Smith noted that sales in the six months increased in each major product category compared to last year.

Railroad product sales of $259,300,000 were up $40,700,000, or 19 percent, reflecting a continuing high level of freight car building and a strong demand for repair components.

General industrial product sales amounted to $112,900,000, an increase of $12,100,000 or 12 percent over the six months ended March 31, 1979.

Higher sales of mechanical power transmission components, equipment to purify and recycle industrial liquids and parts handling equipment generated the increase.

Sales of construction and building products were $97,300,000, up $2,300,000 or 3 percent.

A decrease in sales of pressure pipe for water transmission—attributable to the reduced level of housing starts—was more than offset by increased sales of plastic pipe for gas distribution and pre-casting of metal for commercial, farm and industrial buildings.

Net current assets at March 31, 1980, were $163,800,000, up $50,600,000 from a year ago and $31,700,000 from Sept. 30.

Most of the increase over both periods was reflected in cash and short-term investments, which now amount to $41,300,000.

AMSTED had no short or long-term debt at the end of any of these periods.

AMSTED's backlog of orders on March 31 exceeded the one-half billion dollar mark for the first time in history, amounting to $501,000,000 compared to $441,000,000 at Sept. 30, 1979, and $445,000,000 a year ago.

Orders for new and repair freight car components made up the largest portion of the backlog and accounted for the increases in backlog over both a year ago and Sept. 30.

The backlog of orders for general industrial products is about the same as the beginning of the fiscal year and the level a year ago.

Unfilled orders for construction and building products are down from the start of the fiscal year and the level a year earlier. The decline in housing starts has been the principal factor in reducing the backlog in this category.

Smith said, "Although the current backlog for railroad products is at a record level, some reduction is anticipated in the shipments of components for new freight cars during the last half of the fiscal year, particularly in the last fiscal quarter."

"A further decline in housing starts and a slowdown in the general economy are anticipated."

"These factors and the possible adverse effect of price controls for certain product lines may result in reduced profits in the last half of the year when compared with the record six months just ended. However, sales and earnings for the year should exceed the record high established in 1979."

Varied Shrine parade floats; visit by Moolah

Parade Chairmen Norman Ackermann of Belleville and Kelly Hogan of Granite City, report that float chairmen for entries in this year's big Shrine circus parades are asking many questions and building many floats.

The Belleville parade is on Friday night, June 6, and will bring out nearly 40,000 people to view the massive street show. This year will find an addition of wild animals from the George Hubler Circus as part of the two-hour parade.

The Granite City parade will also be one of the biggest ever held, as the units of Moolah Temple of St. Louis will join with Ainad and other area groups and schools.

This parade will be on Tuesday, June 10, at 7:30 p.m. The Belleville parade four days earlier will start at 8 p.m.

Many trophies have been given over the past few years to the winning floats as they competed in two categories. This year, the parade committees have chosen "A Salute to Disney Characters" and "Circus Days."

The Disney floats should be something that will please all the young people watching the two parades, and considerable competitive programming will go into the construction, Hogan and Ackermann point out.

George Hubler, circus producer, has promised "some extras for the parades this year that should be eye-catching as well as new," circus Chairman Don Adams, Ainad Temple chief rabban, says.

The Ainad Southern Illinois Shrine circus parades are something to talk about for many weeks.

Four charges against driver

Charles G. "Jerry" Warmack, 34, of 2316 Iowa St., was arrested at 2:40 a.m. Wednesday at Washington Avenue and Edwards Street and was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and while his driver's license was expired, leaving the scene of an accident and criminal damage to property.

It is alleged Warmack's auto was turning the corner at Washington Avenue and Edwards Street and struck a stop sign. It then drove from the scene on Edwards and passed a police car. The auto turned right onto Ridgedale Avenue and then right onto East 24th Street, going over the curb and nearly striking a utility pole, the officer in the squad car alleged.

The policeman turned on his car's red lights and followed the auto on East 24th Street. It nearly struck several parked cars in the 2600 and 2500 blocks of East 24th Street, the officer alleged.

The car was stopped at East 24th and Kate streets by five police officers and Warmack was arrested.

He allegedly refused to get in a squad car, pushed Sgt. Dennis Joyce and threatened Patrolman David Anderson. Force was used to handcuff him and put him in the rear seat of a squad car, police said.

He then allegedly kicked the left rear passenger window of the police car, breaking the window. He was transferred to another police car and was taken to the police station where he allegedly refused to submit to a breath test. He was lodged.

Office training for future secretaries

Members of the three local Future Secretaries Associations enjoyed their annual "day in the office" last week at various locations in the area. The girls spent the day opening mail, taking dictation, answering the phone, and going to lunch with the people with whom they worked. They were encouraged to ask questions and learn the details of work involved in the day of the average secretary. Mrs. Vunovic added.

Local ERA advocates meet with supporters

Quad-City women, who are advocates of the ERA ratification project, met with four Republican women on the campaign trail in Illinois for support of the Equal Rights Amendment. The initial press conference was held at the St. Louis International Airport at Lambert Field, Monday, with Helen Milliken, co-chairman of ERAmerica, the national alliance of over 200 pro-ERA groups, and the first lady of Michigan.

Also Mary Louise Smith, former chairman of the Republican National Committee; Ginny Thornburgh, first lady of Pennsylvania; and Susan McLane, New Hampshire State Senator and chairman of the Republican Task Force of National Women's Political Caucus.

Following the conference at the airport, the group drove to Alton for a meeting at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Tuesday, the visitors departed for meetings in Chicago and Springfield.

When asked by the television media why they were campaigning in Illinois the out of state delegation said, "Since Illinois is the only large northern industrial state that has not ratified the amendment and since each state we represent has ratified, we feel we can relate with problems involved here and we want to speak of the benefit to both men and women."

Area women who attended the conference included Annellen Smith, second vice-president of the Illinois Federation of BPW Clubs, Inc.; Pauline White, past president of the local BPW Club; and Norma Mendoza, field organizer with the ERA Ratification Project, state coordinator for BPW-PAC (political action caucus) and District XIV legislation chairman.

Others were Wilma Harpole, president Illinois Federation of BPW Clubs; JoAnn Mann, Rose Higgins and Shirley Pressgrove, all from Mount Vernon BPW Club.

Role by Quad-Cityans and many others in securing the start of work on replacement Lock and Dam 26

Quad-Cityans were present in large numbers on the Mississippi River shore north of two Friday afternoon as the Air Force Band of Mid-America played stirring marches and then as legislators and others who have aided the project spoke at ceremonies formally starting the replacement of Locks and Dam 26.

Among the Quad-Cityans attending was William Cauble, a Granite Cityan who has supervised the bidding and contract awards on early phases of the $540 million construction program.

Master of ceremonies Charles Houghton noted that all segments of this region have worked together to make the giant inland transportation improvement a reality.

Quoting author Mark Twain on the attributes of "the father of waters"—longest river in the world, counting its twists, turns and tributaries—Houghton noted that its volume is three times that of the St. Lawrence River, 25 times that of the Rhine and 338 times that of the Thames.

He concluded that "this is a day of disappointment in other parts of the world (a U.S. hostage rescue mission in Iran failed), but it will be long remembered here as a day of celebration, signaling the beginning of the largest construction project in the history of the bi-state region."

Edward Schmuck, chairman of the Regional Congress and the Granite City Association, told the gathering of more than 1,000 persons that efforts by the Association for the Improvement of the Mississippi River, by the Pride Land management group in Missouri and by the Image construction cooperation group in Illinois have assured good labor relations throughout the one-year lock and dam construction period.

Congressman Melvin Price of this district, the Illinois 23rd, and others urged public opposition to extending the deadline for completion of an upper Mississippi master plan. It was asserted that the effect of such a delay would be to prevent the inclusion of a second lock and dam at the appropriate time has been reached in the local lock-dam construction work.

Cong. Price stressed his belief that the second lock idea is not a "study to death." He said the subject should be allowed to come before Congress while there is still sufficient time to carry out detailed design and planning of a second lock, if authorized, and before its insertion into the sequence of the river area work becomes awkward.

The advantages of controlling air pollution locally, rather than giving the state the responsibility to enforce clean-air laws will be among the topics to be discussed at an air quality forum at 7 tonight in the American Legion Post 113 home, 1925 State St.

The program will be open to the public. Among the speakers are Mrs. Paul Case, air pollution technician for the Granite City Air Pollution Control Department, Dr. Stephen Hall of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, David Wilson of the Coalition for the Environment, and David Dowling and Wallace Weidner, both of United Steelworkers Local 48.

Mrs. Case will speak on "Monitoring Air Pollution" and will show a film on "The Anatomy of Air Pollution." She also plans to discuss the advantages of using a city air pollution control department, rather than relying on the state for enforcement.

"Twelve years ago, the city saw the advantage of having its own pollution control department, for several reasons. These reasons are still valid today," Mrs. Case told the Press-Record.

"The state is assuming more control of monitoring air quality, to assure uniform readings throughout the state, but the state has some officials who have the wrong impression, that they want more control over pollution control."

"The national trend has been toward local control, which they are vigorously supporting, realizing that they could not be as effective or have the staff here that we have."

"They also feel that local control could remove local feelings and goals from the enforcement, being

Lieutenant General John W. Morris, chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and other speakers agreed that the initial new lock may be at capacity utilization by the time it is completed, and that a second lock is justified for that reason and also on the basis of operational needs.

Cong. Robert Young commented that a second lock is essential from safety and efficiency standpoints. He said the lock-dam, being built will be finished in March 1987 and opened to navigation in September 1987.

Gen. Morris added that in view of the procedural upgrading that has taken place, including full assessment of environmental factors, the replacement facility can be "the finest navigation improvement ever constructed" under Corps of Engineers supervision. Chief of Engineers since July 1, 1976, he said he has followed the progress of the lock-dam project ever since it was started eight years ago.

Illinois Governor James R. Thompson commented that "as we celebrate this project, we must resolve that we always stay strong, not only economically but militarily. This project is needed to make the American Midwest the vitality of the U.S. economic system would be weakened. The lock and dam replacement requires No. 1 priority."

Speaking for the Adlai Stevenson, John Taylor gave the replacement work a strong endorsement, as did Carolyn Ashford, representing Missouri Gov. Joseph P. Tinsdale. John Heffern, speaking for Sen. John Danforth, called for a second ceremony marking the start of work on a second new river lock in January 1987.

Other speakers singled out for praise for their support of the new lock and dam included Senators Charles Pryor and Thomas Eagleton and Congressmen Paul Simon, Harold Volkmer and Paul Findley.

Cong. Simon, who formerly represented the Quad-City area in the state legislature, added the names of Cong. Richard Gephardt, who represented the Quad-City area in the U.S. House of Representatives, and Sen. Eagleton gave strong credit to Cong. Price and Vice-President Walter Mondale, a Minnesota Democrat, who represented the Mississippi River state in the U.S. Senate.

"It was a great day for this area and the nation and dam progress will be monitored with great interest by numerous 'sidewalk superintendents' as the construction proceeds throughout most of this decade."

"What Air Pollution Does to People," and Wilson will talk on "Federal, State and Local Agencies and Laws."

Dowling plans to review "Protection for Workers in the Plant," and Weidner, president of Local 67, will address himself to the question, "What Can We Do?"

The East West Gateway Coordinating Council and the Urban Environment Conference are co-sponsoring the meeting under a grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Coffee and doughnuts will be available during the registration period.

Dr. Hall will speak on "Monitoring Air Pollution" and will show a film on "The Anatomy of Air Pollution." She also plans to discuss the advantages of using a city air pollution control department, rather than relying on the state for enforcement.

Reagan delegates may back State Rep. Donald Totten rather than Gov. James R. Thompson as head of the Illinois delegation to the Republican convention unless the governor endorses former California Gov. Reagan for the presidential nomination. It has not been determined what role will be played by the 26 Anderson delegates at the state convention May 9 in Peoria, Cong. John Anderson has dropped out of the Republican competition to run for president as an independent.

An interregional rally for the Equal Rights Amendment will take place at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow in Centennial Hall, 2nd and Edwards streets, Springfield, Ill. Afterward, those attending will visit their legislators and urge them to vote for the amendment. Sen. Wm. F. Winter will be close with a prayer service for equality on the State Capitol steps. Sen. Vadabene and Rep. Stearns continue to oppose ratification, and Rep. McPike and Rep. Wolf favor it.

Bills to study mandatory emission control programs for autos, and to tighten sanctions on restricted driving licenses were approved last week by the House 90-60 last week but faces an uncertain fate in the Senate, where an opponent, Sen. Vince Demuzio, is chairman of the banking committee. Madison County would be in the southernmost of five banking regions; the bill would allow several banks to merge under single ownership if, in the same region or a contiguous one.

The Illinois House adopted 91-56 Thursday a plan to phase out local school property taxes and replace them with local income taxes. It also approved 102-46 an income tax increase for renters $22 for a tenant paying $250 a month in rent, and $45 for those paying $500.

The Harrison of Granite City was chosen Thursday as an at-large Illinois Carter delegate.

Cahokia edges South for GEC Relays crown

Press-Record Sports

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, April 28, 1980—17

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE
After some hasty tabulations in the press box overlooking the track field at SIUE, Granite City South's head track coach Mel Bunting knew exactly where his team stood.

Cahokia would give the Warriors a victory. Any other order of finishes meant a Comanche win.
"Quite frankly," Bunting said later, "I knew we couldn't beat them. I'd rather not approach it from the fact that we had to win and they had to lose. Our mile relay team is all underclassmen, and they (Cahokia) turned in a super time."

That time, 3:41.1, was good enough for a first place finish for the Comanches, giving them a total of 48 points to South's 40.

"Granite City North finished third with 38 team points, then came Edwardsville and Alton with 22 and 6 points respectively."

"In a relay meet, it comes down to depth," Bunting said. "Cahokia simply had the depth in the sprint events. We're strong when it comes to the distance and field events."

Bunting's analysis held true. Cahokia swept through the sprints, winning the 400 relay, 120 high hurdle, shuttle, sprint medley, 330 low hurdle, and the mile relay.

South, on the other hand, dominated the field events, winning the pole vault, high jump, shot, and discus, and did pretty much the same in the distance relays, finishing first in the two-mile relay and the distance medley.

In fact, in the distance medley, the Warriors' team of Tim Dax, Drew

Geisler, Scott Abbott, and Dave Houston set a school record with a 10:53.3 finish, over a second faster than the old record of 10:54.4.

For the boys of Granite City North, though, the problem was of a different nature. According to head coach Harry

Lang, the Steelers' problem in the meet is the same one that's troubled North all year—a lack of outstanding performances.

"We didn't have any fourths or fifths," Lang said. "But we only had one first. We were hoping that Cahokia and Granite South would knock each other off enough so that we could sneak in. We came close, but no cigar."

The Steelers' team of Kevin Perkins, Tim
Dudley, John Kefalas, and Kevin Buchanan gave North its only first with a 1:34.2 finish in the 800 relay.

But second place finishes in the 400 relay, 330 low hurdle, discus, pole vault, high jump, distance medley, and mile relay, gave the Steelers enough points to finish a strong third in the meet, just two points behind South, and ten away from first place (Cahokia).

"We've got a fairly young team," Lang said.
"Our only seniors, Mike York, Danny Fitzgerald,
John Kefalas, and Tim
Dudley, all go in about

Soccer Club champ

CHICAGO — It was like old times here Sunday when the Granite City Soccer Club played Winnetka for the state championship in the McGuire Cup playoff series for under-19 year old teams.

The GC Soccer Club is made up mostly of Granite City South soccer players.
Winnetka's squad is comprised mostly of players from New Trier East High School.

Granite South and New Trier East met last August in Chicago for the state high school championship. South won. Sunday's result was the same.

Granite City continued to show why it is considered the soccer capital of Illinois here when the GSCC pounded Winnetka 4-0 for the state title.

Granite City's first goal was scored by a non-Granite Cityan, Robbie Mann, who goes to Collinsville High, blasted a shot threw the Winnetka goalie's hands 10 minutes into the game, and was all Granite needed. But it got more.

Jack Burnett scored about 10 minutes later on a head shot off a corner kick by David Fernandez. Both go to South. Fernandez scored early into the second half on a free kick. That was followed by a goal off the foot of Phil Beljanski, who also goes to South.

Saturday, the GC Soccer
Club downed the Kickers 2-0.
Goals were scored by Burnett and Beljanski.

The win for GSCC means that it will advance to subregional action next Saturday in Alton against the Wisconsin state champ, beginning at 1 p.m. The game will be played at the new Sports Complex on Route 111, directly across from the Alton State Hospital.

Kantner, Greco spur SIU Cougars to sweep

EDWARDSVILLE — In these years of million-dollar season baseball contracts, there are five, maybe six hurlers on the staff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team who may have a good shot at some of that big money.

After sweeping a doubleheader Saturday from Missouri Baptist College's Spartans at Cougar Field, 3-1 and 4-0, the SIUE baseball team of Coach (Bo) Collins are riding a red-hot six-game winning streak.

And, most importantly,
they have gotten six straight starts... and strong finishes from their mound staff.

In the process, the Cougars' Fernando Aguirre, senior from Bethalto High by the way of Mexico City, and Kent Taylor, a freshman from Fairfield, Ill., both turned in spectacular pitching performances in beating a very strong Missouri Baptist nine.

Aguirre, in winning 3-1, completely baffled the last 18 batters to face him. In fact, the Spartans were extremely lucky to score on him. An fielding error leading off the top of the second frame, plus a stolen base, permitted Kevin Bowers to drive in the leasers' only run. In fact, Aguirre only gave up two hits; the first being a leadoff single in the first frame from Mike Blotta. In the process, the sharp-breaking curveballing artist whiffed six batters. It was his second victory in a 2-4 season.

Taylor's performance in the twinning's nightcap, a 4-0 whitewash job, retired 14 out of the last 15 Spartan hitters and allowed just three singles in a brilliant mound job. In fact, the leadoff single by Missouri Baptist's designated hitter, Duane Dickinson, in the third was the first baserunner for the visitors in 24 batters over the two games. SIUE's Mike Stewart, one of four Cougar catchers made an unbelievable peg to shortstop
Larry Maden, to pick off Dickinson at second to quell the threat to Taylor's shoutout.

Missouri Baptist's pitching wasn't too bad, either. In fact, in the day's opening game, the Spartans' John Smecher gave up only four Cougar hits, but unfortunately for him SIUE's Jay Kruckman's single down the rightfield line drove in two of the inning's three runs.

Taylor won one more in the Cougars' six-game winning streak, which has seen SIUE go over the 500 mark (now 512-20) for the first time this season. Doug Gremaud, Ted Smith and Granite Cityan
John Lakin eph posed a victory in that important run of victories for SIUE.

Collins had his two "aces," Tom Ritzheimer and John Mueller, ready to pitch against the high-flying Salukis at Carbondale Sunday, but that doubleheader was rained out and re-scheduled for next Sunday afternoon.

Taylor's chief offensive help came from Rich Kantner and Tom Greco.
Kantner, one of collegiate baseball's best fastest outfielders, went three-forthree and scored once.
Greco, a freshman from Granite City, came through with the big blow in the Cougars' decisive three-run sixth frame. Kantner drove in the other tally.

To that point, Missouri Baptists hurler Brian Hosick had given up only a tainted SIUE run. And, had allowed just three hits. In fact, Kruckman's run in the second inning — the game's only run until the sixth — was definitely a fluke. After one out in the second frame, Kruckman singled, stole second and moved to third on Kantner's infield hit. He then came home on a passed ball.

(Tuesday) twinbill against NAIA powerhouse, St.
Francis College at Joliet, Ill., and two more there Wednesday, the Cougars have 14 more games remaining on their schedule.

CAHOKIA — The Granite

may not have won the Cahokia Invitational Tournament here Saturday, but they kept the favor-it from playing in the title game.

South finished fourth in the tournament, losing to Belleville East 6-0 in the third place game. But earlier in the day, the Warriorettes made a name for themselves.

Scoring two runs in the top of the seventh inning, South upset defending state

Kahoks silence Steelers' bats

EDWARDSVILLE

Granite City North coach Bob Stegmeyer was as baffled as the Steeler hitters after North's 5-1 loss to Collinsville Saturday morning.

"We didn't hit the ball," Stegmeyer said in his brief but accurate summary of the game. "We're dumb hitters off a pitcher like this."

The Kahoks' Mark
Campbell used the curve, more curves, and even more curves to keep the Steeler batters in check at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougar Field.

Meanwhile, Collinsville's bats came to life, tagging losing pitcher Steve Doty for three runs on four hits in the bottom of the first inning.

But, back to Campbell.
"We know he's going to throw curves," Stegmeyer said. "And we know we have to hit 'em to right. But how many did we hit to right?"

"We'll hit 'em off the pitching machine. I'll throw curves and we'll hit them then it's the same problem. You can't be a swinger. You have to be a hitter," he said.

Campbell contained North, known as one of the better hitting teams in the area, to just three hits. The Steelers' one run came in the third inning when Brian Corey reached on an error, Mike Robertson walked and Rick Buer singled with two out.

Alan Schmidt singled in the second and Dan Patterson singled in the fourth and that was it.

"He did a good job throws strikes... only walked one," Stegmeyer said. "He's a smart pitcher.
He makes hitters swing. But it's not just us. He's successful against everyone he goes against."

Campbell is now 5-0-1, and has firmly established himself as the Kahoks'
"stopper."

Campbell outduels Doty in 5-1 loss

But Saturday morning saw more than just good pitching. Collinsville executed well in the field and with the bats — overall, a good, solid performance.

In the first inning, Todd Miller led off with a long single down the left-field line. He reached third on a hit-and-run single by Campbell to right.

After Barry Wilson fanned Mike Heflin hopped on Doty's second pitch and drove it up the left-field gap for a two-RBI double. Heflin came all the way around to score when the throw back in got away from third-baseman Daren DePew.

Execution gave the Kahoks another run in the third. Wilson singled with one out and stole second as Heflin struck out. With two outs Randy McEwen singled Wilson home, and Collinsville led, 4-1.

The Kahoks picked up one more run off reliever Keith Burton in the bottom of the fifth. Wilson reached on a fielders choice, again stole second and was eventually driven in by McEwen with another RBI single.

In all, Collinsville tagged Steelers pitchers for nine hits and left just four on base.
Eight of nine Kahoks had at least one hit.

North almost threatened in the top of the sixth, but the Kahoks' defense came to life. Third-baseman Keith Throm stole a hit from Buer when he went down to his right, came up with the ball, scrambled to his feet and gunned it across for the out.

Bob Ford was next up with a sharp grounder to shortstop Scott Carson. The ball

look a high hop, but Carson stayed with it and threw out Ford by two steps.

Carson threw the ball in the dirt on a grounder by Patterson, but the Kahoks got out of the inning when catcher McEwen hustled behind the plate to grab a short pop-out by Schmidt.

The Steelers went down in order in the seventh, with Campbell recording his fifth strikeout to end the game.

"We probably hit the ball better, than we have all year," Collinsville coach Russ Keene said.

"Everybody hit the ball hard against some pretty good pitching."

With the win the Kahoks are 16-3-1, while North dropped back to 12-4.

The game reminded me of the way we played the last 10 games of last season," Keene said. He said Collinsville is now starting to play at full potential.

"This is it. We've had some rest and, hopefully,
Tuesday night will play better than we did against North and take it from there."

The Kahoks are scheduled for a double-header with Granite City South at South beginning at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Wallace wins feature

GRANITE CITY — The weather was a bit chilly
Saturday night, but Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo., wasn't when he won the 25-lap feature at the Tri-City Speedway.

Wallace started in the eleventh position but worked his way for the lead as he over took Doug McCammon of Palestine, Ill., on the eighth lap and won by a half straightaway over Kevin Gundaker of St. Louis, Mo., Don Hobbs of Bloomington, Ind., Kenny Schrader of Baldwin, Mo., G.C. Corbin of
E. Alton, Ill., and Kenny Shrum of St. Charles, Mo.

Dick Taylor of Springfield, Ill., the defending late model champion, won the first heat over Kenny Shrum. Last week's feature winner Gary Potter of St. Charles, Mo., and Mike Cookery of Central, Ill., Mike Wallace won the second heat over Don Hobbs, Rick Stipdrige of Springfield, Ill., and Kenny Schrader. In the third heat, Kevin Gundaker won over
Jim Strube of Peoria, Ill., Ivan Logan of Pittsfield, Ill., and Len Gittermeyer of St.
Charles, Mo.

Even though Kevin Gundaker finished second in the feature, he could have had a chance for a clean sway as he won his heat and the trophy dash over Don Hobbs, Dick Taylor, and Kenny Shrum.

In the sportsman feature,
Tom Smith of St. Louis started on the pole position and led every lap to win his first feature of the year over Cecil Lyons of Virginia, Ill.,
Bill Ried of St. Charles, Mo., Paul Humphrey Sr., of Duplo, Ill., and Paul Humphrey Jr., of Granite City.

Steelers, Warriors split doubleheader

By TOM SCHOCKER
For the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — One could not have asked for a more exciting game at Granite City South field Thursday. Unless, of course, there were two games.

A video tape was needed to clearly see the bang-bang finishes between Granite City North and Granite City South in the twin-bill clash. Holding on until the final out, the Steelers downed South in a Gateway East Conference contest 4-3. But the Warriors had to breathe a sign of relief as a late inning attack by North was halted to give South a 6-4 split in the second game.

A brisk gusty wind ran chills through the goodly number of spectators. However warmth generated from the playing field. The two competing clubs were hot.

It was a rematch in game one. Not only of North against South but also of Kevin Cripps and Darryl Harris. As in the two clubs first encounter last week, Cripps got the upper hand advantage early.

Harris was stung by the Steeler bats and his own defense as an error in the third led to RBI from Dennis Page and Bob Batey. South came right back though, with a triple from Kevin Sykes and a RBI single from hot-hitting Rick Daily.

The score remained at 2-1 until the sixth. Cripps and Harris pitched around every dilemma that faced them.

But the sixth found a quite different situation. With runners on first and second, the Warriors intentionally walked Mike Robertson to get to Page. You remember Page, a .164 hitter last year. The odds backed.

Page lined a shot to right that dropped in front of the diving Kenny Wilson for a hit, scoring two runs. "I thought I'd better get a hit or else," said Page. His single put the Steelers up 4-1. "I was just trying to get a piece of the ball and at first I thought it was a hit. But then it looked like the outfielder was going to catch it."

Heroes seem to be in the thing these days. The Warriors came within two feet of making it a different ballgame. Owning a comfortable three run lead, Cripps quickly retired the first two batters in the seventh. A harmless enough start. But a pair of singles from Sykes and Mark Clark put a mild threat on the bases. The next batter was Daily. "I just tried to throw it by him," said Cripps. "But I got it up to high." "I was scared stiff when Daily hit that ball out there," said Page.

The reason for concern was a drive that Daily blasted to the right centerfield fence. Two runs scored and Daily was headed for home with the tying run. "I figured it would be a close play at third," said Daily. "I kind of stumbled around the third but kept running when I saw Coach Champion having me go all the way."

Rightfielder Rob Chapman caught up with the ball and hit Dan Patterson on the relay. But the usual sure-handed second baseman fumbled the ball. "I thought for sure he was going to score when I saw Denny bobble the ball and then slip," said Cripps. Patterson regained his composure in time to fire a strike to catcher Daren DePew at the plate, who tagged the sliding Daily for the out and the game. "I wasn't going to wave him (Daily) home," said South head coach Babe Hampton. "But when I saw Patterson bobble the ball, I sent him on in. That's the only reason. I gambled and lost. Some day I'll gamble and win. I'm not a good poker player anyway. I'll take the loss for this one."

The defeat gave the Warriors an 0-4 mark in the Gateway East Conference while boosting the Steelers record to 3-2. "Kevin (Cripps) did another good job," said North head coach Bob Stogemeier. "We got two key relays that helped win the game. I hope they keep walking people intentional."

Pride and records were at stake in the nightcap as North and South again battled tooth and nail. With the score at 4-3 Warrior advantage, South tacked on a two insurance runs as RBI from Daily, whose double proved to be the game winner, and Cope gave the Warriors a three-run lead.

South's pitching played its part as Jody Fenton and Tom McGowan combined to give North only one hit through the middle four innings, setting down 10 Steelers in a row at one point. But North had a heart-stopper in store for the Warriors in the final frame.

A bases-loaded sacrifice fly from Page produced one run and the Steelers were down to their last out and most consistent hitter at the plate.

"Daily, now on the mound for the Warriors, forced Batey to hit a ground ball to short and the issue was settled."

"We had a shot and the guy up at the plate that we wanted," said Stogemeier. It was the sentiment of both coaches that neither one of their clubs gave up. But it was best summed up by Champion, "Granite City is happy. We both won a game today."

Witkus in the semifinals. In the quarterfinals, Sykes and Menendez defeated Mehn and Holdener of West 6-2, 6-3 and Ando and Schaller downed South's Ed Schumback and Terry Malench 6-3, 6-4.

In the doubles consolation quarterfinals, Schumback and Malench lost to Hardin and Hartenstein of Alton 2-6, 6-2, 6-2. In first round action, Sykes and Menendez downed Hardin and Hartenstein 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

West surprises O'Fallon

BELLEVILLE — Belleville West pulled an upset of sorts here Saturday when it won the team championship of the annual Belleville East Invitational Meet. The Maroons surprised powerhouse O'Fallon and defeated the favored Panthers by the margin of a single point for the championship.

West finished with 16 1/2 points. O'Fallon was second with 15 1/2, followed by Belleville East with 7 and Granite City South with 5.

Next in line were Edwardsville 4 1/2, Cahokia 3 1/2, Belleville Althoff 2 and Lebanon 1.

The singles championship was won by Joe Vassen of Belleville West 6-4, 4-0, 6-3 over Ken Gurley of O'Fallon. Braden Cruickshank of O'Fallon finished third by beating Jeff Kuhn of Cahokia 7-6, 6-2.

Granite City South's Tom Longos advanced to the quarterfinals before he was ousted by Vassen 6-1, 6-1, earlier, he had beaten Ryan

Ganey of Alton 6-2, 6-1. South's Pat Heist lost to Kuhn 6-0, 3-6, 6-0 in the first round.

In doubles action, Scott McLean and Phil Cohn of west won the championship over Joe Carter and Ted Witkus of East 7-5, 5-7, 6-1.

South's duo of George Sykes and John Menendez finished fourth. They lost to Kerri Ando and Allan Schaller of O'Fallon 7-5, 6-1 in the third-place match. Earlier, Sykes and Menendez lost to Carter and Ganey of Alton 6-2, 6-1. South's Pat Heist lost to Kuhn 6-0, 3-6, 6-0 in the first round.

Trojans fail to Cahokia

CAHOKIA — The Madison Trojans baseball team took one on the chin here Friday, losing to Cahokia 8-6.

Cahokia struck first, scoring three runs in the bottom of the first inning. But the Trojans came back with three runs of their own in the third inning.

The score remained tied only until the bottom of the fourth when Cahokia scored one run. The Comanches scored three more times in the fifth, putting the game out of reach.

Madison got scored two runs in the top of the sixth and one more in the seventh, but it was not enough. Cahokia got an insurance run in the sixth.

Barry Reynolds took the loss for Madison. Jeff Palmer was the winning pitcher. Madison's James Godair was one-for-three with two RBI. Reynolds was one-for-four with two RBI. Teammate Jeff Niehaus was one-for-two. Catcher Ed Burns was one-for-three.

Umpire clinic

GRANITE CITY — There will be mandatory umpires clinic on Thursday, May 1, at 7 p.m. at Nameoki Recreation Center. The clinic is for those interested in being umpires for the Granite City Park District 1980 baseball season.

The clinic will cover rules interpretation and other segments of umpiring. It will also be important in that income tax W-4 forms will be signed and a list will be made of those in attendance and the nights they can and cannot work. The clinic will last approximately two hours.

Questions may be answered by contacting the Park Office at 877-3059.

Maroons get late blast to down South

BELLEVILLE — A second winning home run ended Granite City South's game with Belleville West Friday.

Brian Barton, West's big relief pitcher, came in to pitch the bottom 2-10-9 victory in the bottom of the seventh inning.

A huge left field homer scored two runs for the Maroons and sent South's defense reeling.

Maroon coach Chuck Becherer, who reached first via Warrior shortstop Rich Cope's error.

A single by Jeff Lanaghan followed an infield out. Then came Barton's towering, game-winning homer.

"Daddy pitched well enough to win the game," South coach Babe Champion said, pacing out tight little circles near the Warrior bench just minutes after the home run beat South. "The game should have been over. You can't blame our pitching."

It was a game that seemed like nobody wanted to win," Hassenstaub said. "Things didn't go well for either team."

The first inning certainly didn't. South scored five runs in their first time at the plate, with key blows coming from Daily, Cope and John Vrenick. Daily was responsible, at least in part, for South's first two runs, when Becherer misplayed his grounder.

Cope tripled in Daily and Vrenick doubled home another run. But Belleville came right back in the bottom of the first with four runs, made possible largely by South's three errors in the inning.

Daily should have seen trouble brewing. The Warriors' big lead was cut to only one run. "I feel sorry for their starter," Hassenstaub said. "He had a 5-0 lead, but he didn't do anything to waste it."

"We shouldn't have those errors at this point in the season," Champion said. "Before the game I told everyone that every play means something, whether you're 15 runs up or 15 runs down."

The players must not have got the message. South tacked on two runs in the fourth, where Daily singled in Jeff Berghauer and Steve Ficker, and took a 7-4 lead.

But West cut that to 7-5 with a single run in the fifth, then tied the game with two more runs in sixth. Once again, an error, this time by Vrenick, played a part.

South retied to lead in the top of the seventh when Daily and Stricher scored after Becherer kicked South's Hondo Ambuehl's short left-field pop fly into foul territory.

Again the outlook was rosy. That is, until the West half of the seventh, which began with the error and ended with the home run.

For Champion, it was a scenario played out once too often. "Look at our record," he said. "We've lost 10 games, and I'll bet almost eight or nine of those have been by one run."

He paused before he smiled and said, "Oh well, it's got to be a better day tomorrow.... We don't play."

Unger, Hill win freestyle

Like their male counterparts, though, the Steelers lack of first place wins held them down in the final standings.
The North girls won only the shot put, with the team of Evelyn Pates, Leslie McHenry, and Christi Gargac.

South's girls finished stronger, winning the sprint medley, distance medley, mile relay, and discus.

In the third place game, South could never get started. The Warriorettes' batters couldn't solve the East pitching, and never challenged. The Lancers scored one time in the first and second innings and four more runs in the third. That was all they needed.
In the championship game, West rallied with two runs in the top of the seventh inning, to edge Edwardsville. West took a 2-0 lead in the first, but the Tigers scored once in the third inning and twice in the fourth to take a 3-2 lead.

Attorney Sentence Denby May 22

Sentenced

Attorney who was sentenced earlier this month to three counts of failure to file income tax returns entered a plea of nolo contendere Thursday in Madison County Circuit Court and was sentenced to 100 hours of free assistance for inmates.
Charles Weitzman, 34, who practices law at 2945 Madison Ave., Granite City, had been charged with not filing tax returns for the 1977 and 1978 tax years. In addition to providing the legal assistance, Weitzman was sentenced by Judge Jeanne Scott at a trial to one year of supervision and was fined $900.
Scott is to make a decision to the Illinois Department of Revenue for unpaid taxes, penalty and interest, and to file any delinquent returns.
[Free legal assistance is provided under the provisions of the Land of Illinois Legal Assistance Foundation, 2321 Russell St., Alton.]
Weitzman was investigated by the Illinois Department of Revenue. Prosecution was handled by the office of Illinois Attorney General William Scott.

Associate Judge John W. Day had set sentencing for May 22 for Billy B. Denby, 50, of the 2200 block of Namecki Road, who was found guilty of armed violence by a jury last week in the fatal beating of Edward Pence Jr. with a baseball bat in Denby's home Oct. 3, 1979.
In finding Denby guilty of armed violence, the jury found him innocent of attempted murder and was unable to reach a unanimous verdict on a murder charge. Judge Day ruled a mistrial on the murder charge, but accepted the armed violence verdict. Assistant State's Attorney Stephen Mudge, who prosecuted Denby, has said he is checking similar verdicts to determine if he can retry Denby on the murder charge.

However, the judge, prosecutor and defense attorneys in the case are quoted as saying they believe the conviction on the armed violence charge constitutes an acquittal on the murder charge.

Compensation sought for landfill's dirt

The Metro-East Sanitary District Board of Commissioners was told Thursday that SCA Services, which operates the Milan East landfill south of Layton Road and east of Route 203, could owe the district as much as $1 million for dirt moved from the south levee of the Cahokia Canal during the past four months.
The board asked its attorneys to check into the matter, according to the Sanitary District's consulting engineer.
An SCA spokesman has agreed to meet with the board May 5 to discuss the question. Commissioner Walter "Shang" Greathouse of Granite City, said.
Allegations that SCA has installed drainage culverts into the Cahokia Canal and may be draining polluted runoff water from the land fill into the canal are under investigation by the Collinsville office of the Environmental Protection Agency, sources indicate.

Subdivision annexed

A 17-acre tract at the northeast corner of the Pontoon Beach village limits has been annexed into the village after seven months of delay.
Herman Schroeder, Bud Gossnell and Richard Buenger, organized as SGB Development Co., plan to construct several $50,000 homes in what will become the Gemstone Subdivision between Kaseberg Lane and South Drive, west of Route 111.
Village Trustee Duane Skinner voted against immediate annexation, saying the developers have not given the village proof that all terms of the village's new subdivision control ordinance will be followed.

News notes

The Madison County Board may get conflicting recommendations from its committees studying the proposed creation of a special taxing district to help support the Bi-State Transit System. Members of the Legislative Committee have indicated they may support non-binding bills in the state legislature to create the district, while the county's Finance Committee has firmly opposed. Both favor a pending bill which would continue state funding of the bus system for one year while local communities determine how to raise a local share of about $1 for the Illinois communities served by Bi-State.

A bill which would have reduced the size of the Illinois House of Representatives by reducing the number of House districts from 59 to 51 has been rejected by the House Executive Committee. The Coalition for Political Honesty has until May 4 to collect enough signatures to put the question on the November ballot as a constitutional amendment.

An Illinois Senate bill to have Appellate and Supreme Court judges appointed by nominating commissions is advancing in the Senate while a similar measure has been defeated in the House. The Senate bill gives the governor more authority to name members of the commissions while the House measure would give state bar associations, both political parties and the governor powers to appoint members. Whether the measure is ultimately successful will go before the voters on the November ballot.

Notice of Public Hearing
Re: Proposed Increase in Transit Fares

1. Notice is hereby given that eight (8) public hearings will be held by the Bi-State Development Agency from May 12, 1980 through May 16, 1980. The purpose of these hearings is to satisfy the provisions of Section 5(1)(3) of the Urban Mass Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 5303, as amended, which requires a public hearing or an opportunity for a public hearing prior to an increase in the general level of transit fare. Each hearing is scheduled to begin at 7:00 p.m. The specific dates and locations of the hearings are as follows:

- (1) May 12, 1980, Wohl Recreation Center, 1515 N. Kingshighway, St. Louis, Missouri 63113.
- (2) May 12, 1980, Southwest High School, 3125 South Kingshighway, Auditorium, St. Louis, Missouri 63139.
- (3) May 13, 1980, Township Building, 2060A Delmar, Auditorium, Granite City, Illinois 62040.
- (4) May 13, 1980, East St. Louis Senior High School, 4901 State Street, Auditorium, East St. Louis, Illinois 62203.
- (5) May 14, 1980, St. Louis County Government Building, Administration Building, County Council Chambers, 1st Floor, 414 South Central, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.
- (6) May 14, 1980, University of Missouri-St. Louis, 8001 Natural Bridge Road, J.C. Penney Building, Lecture Hall 126, St. Louis, Missouri 63121.
- (7) May 15, 1980, Meramec Community College, Lecture Building, Lecture Hall 103, 11333 Big Bend Blvd., St. Louis, Missouri 63122.
- (8) May 16, 1980, St. Clair County Board No. 10, Public Square, Board Room, Room No. 464, Belleville, Illinois 62220.

A. Description of Project
(1) The proposed project consists of a general fare increase to assist in defraying the unfunded expenditures of the Bi-State Development Agency's Transit System. The proposed increase is essential to the Agency's effort to balance the Transit System's budget for fiscal year 1981 (July 1, 1980 through June 30, 1981), and to avoid a projected $11 million deficit for that year. Specifically, the project provides for the following revisions to Transit System's fare structure:
The basic adult fare would rise from the present 25 cents per ride to 50 cents per ride, and the child fare would increase from 15 cents to 25 cents. These fares would be in effect on all local service, including Orbit routes. No zone or premium charges would be assessed, but riders on express, rapid, park-and-ride and shopper express routes would be charged 75 cents. Transfers would continue to be issued to elderly and handicapped riders at a charge and to regular riders for 10 cents. Under the proposed system, students would be charged 10 cents for transfers, also. Fares for certified elderly and/or handicapped riders would rise from 15 cents to 25 cents during rush hours (6 a.m.-9 a.m. and 4 p.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Friday only), and from 10 cents to 25 cents at all other times. The weekly pass, which now costs $4.50, would cost $7.00 and could be used for unlimited riding during the week of issue on local service only. A special commuter pass for use on rapid, express or park-and-ride service, would be available for $7.50 per week, or commuters would be able to purchase a monthly pass for $22. Student would be charged $2.50 for the weekly 10-ride ticket instead of the present $2.00 or 20 cent drop.

Superpass would sell for $3.00 instead of the present $1.00 per week. Other fares would change as follows: Clayton Scooter, which costs 10 cents presently, would rise to 25 cents under proposed revision, and Special Services would cost $1.50 per trip. (Present $1.00 per trip.) Buses on Muni Express and 75 cents on both the Race Track and Six Flag Express. Changes for the two downtown Scooter routes would remain at 10 cents per ride.

(2) Bi-State's service area includes St. Louis City and County and Jefferson and St. Charles counties in Missouri, and Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties in Illinois. The Bi-State Development Agency's estimated budget for fiscal year 1981 requires revenues from fares, operating assistance from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and local assistance through the half-cent Missouri sales tax and funds from the Illinois Department of Transportation.

B. Relocation
No persons, families, or businesses will be displaced by this project.
This project will not have a significant environmental impact upon the urban-service area.
D. Comprehensive Planning
This project is in conformance with comprehensive land use and transportation planning in the St. Louis area and is consistent with the adopted programming of projects in the Transportation Improvement Program.

E. Elderly and Handicapped
The design of the project contained herein will take into consideration the special needs of the elderly and handicapped.
F. Charter Bus Operations
Bi-State Development Agency does not engage in any charter services outside of the St. Louis, Missouri Metropolitan District (including Alton, Illinois).
G. School Bus Service
Bi-State Development Agency does not engage in any school bus operations exclusively for the transportation of students or school personnel.

II. At the hearing, Bi-State Development Agency will afford an opportunity for interested persons to be heard with respect to the social, energy conservation, environmental, and economic aspects of the project. Interested persons may submit orally or in writing, evidence and recommendations with respect to the proposed fare increase.

III. Should the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) prepare a formal statement on the environmental impact of the project, the availability of such statement from UMTA will be made known by publication in the same manner as publication of the notice of public hearing.

IV. A copy of the proposed fare structure and the Transportation Improvement Program for the area is currently available for public inspection at the Bi-State Development Agency, 411 North 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63101, between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.
